

Motivational letter

The first time I heard of S-cubed was back in October during Freshers' week where I met some of the executive members who told me about the various events organised.

Throughout the year I have attended many of these events together with my friends and I can honestly say they were an important part of my first year at University, since I had the opportunity to make new friends and also get better informed about the organisation and its main aims. S-cubed is the organisation that provides opportunities for us students who are striving to become scientist to share opinions and ideas. S-cubed gives importance to the social life of us science students, giving us the chance to have a holistic experience during our years of study.

After this year as a member of this organisation I would now like to submit my nomination form to be part of the executive and I am willing and determined to work hard in a team so that other students can have the same experiences I had. I also think that this experience will help me develop skills that I will utilise to reach my goals.

Donatella Bongailas
B.Sc. Biology and Chemistry (Hons.)
First Year